From our own Reporter.
 Bedford Union Fair.—Yesterday morning, in the midst of a pouring rain, we made our way to the depot to take advantage of the early freight train, and thus fulfill our engagement to the good people of Bedford to be "among them taking notes."

On entering the car we found ourselves the only occupants, and monarch over all the seats, on two of which we stretched our forms and listened to the patter of the rain upon the roof. Until we reached the city limits the train.

"Like a wounded snake dragged its slow length along," but then we were carried at a good rate to Newburgh, where about forty excursionists got on board, being mostly young ladies and gentlemen who were as full of fun as John G. Saxe.

Arriving at the pleasant village of Bedford, the drenching rain put a damper upon the prospects for the day, but rendered the ride a fine one for those having umbrellas or overcoats for sale. The people of the village had been entreprising and active in preparing the grounds for a successful Fair, and had accomplished much.

A large tent capable of containing 2,000 persons had been erected. The finest trotting ring in the county had been made ready for the tests of speed—stalls and pens had been provided for the cattle, and the whole arranged in a systematic and thorough manner. Seats overlooking the ring were erected for the use of the ladies. The Secretary's office was situated at the entrance to the grounds where the words "Bedford Union Fair" were wrought in large evergreen letters.

The tent being rather old and worn, the rain fell in quantities through its holes, for which cause many of the fancy articles and cloths had been removed, but after remaining to present a fine appearance. Had the day been fair there would have been a very large concourse of people to honor this first fair of the Society, but water is a potent agent in the affairs of men, and its effect when falling from the clouds is not always pleasant. So, although the attendance was large, it was much less than the merits of the cause demanded. The exhibition of horses and cattle was very creditable to the farmers about, but in the mechanical department there were very few entries. Among the latter Baldwin, Dewitt & Co., and B. Martin & Co., furnished some harness, plows, straw cutters, etc. Chas. Howell's mowers was the only one on exhibition. The Home Sewing Machine was working diligently under the direction of the Agent, Mr. Jerry Conn.

We note some of the articles which were especially creditable, and regretting that the want of space will exclude the rest.

C. D. Purdy, of Bedford, had on exhibition a beautiful Aquarium, stocked with various kinds of fish, and containing also a turtle and a frog which seemed to have made themselves "at home" among the stones and plants. By means of a water tank above, a fountain was playing in an elevated basin of rocks from which the water flowed through a trough and turned the wheel of a miniature grist mill. The miller (fay) was sitting on a projecting log fishing, and once or twice a minute would jerk his line up with a true fisherman's snap, and we could almost see a shade of variation on his face as he saw it was "only a fish."

The whole was very ingeniously constructed. Mr. Purdy also exhibited a number of Indian relics and a warrior's skull broken by a blow from a tomahawk. These relics were dug from a mound on the Upper Mississippi.

The Purdy family must be great on antiquarian researches, as we were shown in addition to the above, a collection of Roman coins, and some old newspapers which have reached the "ere and yellow leaf."

These latter are interesting "types of the times" from which we could call many extracts had we space. A fac simile of Benjamin Franklin's New England Courant of 1723 was not the least attractive specimen.

While speaking of by-gone times, we will mention a landscape embroidered with silk which was done by Mrs. R. Thomas of Bedford in 1805. It was excellently done, as were several other fine specimens of embroidery.

The Ladies department was well attended to and many neat and delicate contributions showed that the fingers of the fair dames and maidens had not been idle. Flowers, Baskets, Paintings, etc., were arranged in profusion, and the list would swell to a formidable size were we to enumerate all deserving of praise.

The Chair Factories of Bedford were well represented by a large array of chairs, plainly saying "come to our arms."

In the fruit department there was of course a scarcity, but among those who exhibited, W. P. Robinson of Independence, had a tempting array, comprising forty varieties of different kinds of fruits. Of the merits of some of his noble apples we can speak, "knowing whereof we affirm," and furthermore, we can speak from experience of the richness and flavor of somebody's home-made wines, both Elderberry and Currant.

We were not a temperance man, we should exultate upon the subject.

The rain so affected the track as to prevent any display of horsemanship what in the forenoon. On Thursday the following ladies rode in the ring—Miss Brewster, of Northfield; Misses Wheeler, Parkman, Lobb, Culver, (9 years old) Leland and Osborn, of Bedford. The riding for prizes was to take place yesterday afternoon.

Taking the Fair as a whole, it was one reflecting great credit upon the managers and up on the spirit of the contributors. The Fair included the five towns of Bedford, Newburgh, Colon, Independence and Warrenville, but Bedford led the rest. The officers of the Fair were: President, Ben. Lamson; Vice President, J. C. Cleveland; Secretary, E. J. Bates; Treasurer, Wm. King.

Being obliged to leave at 2:50 P. M., we were unable to see the afternoon exercises or to obtain a full list of the premiums.

Among those whom the Fair called together were several sporting gentlemen, who thought that the rural inhabitants might have their pockets picked with impunity, but who were soon arrested for trying the game, and kept secure in the hotel. Bedford folks know a thing or two about such matters.

A Mr. Leland, of Newburgh, was driving a pair of horses in the ring on Thursday evening, when the carriage broke and he was thrown out injuring him considerably.

The Bedford people have made a good and successful beginning in the way of Union Fairs. May each one be more successful than the preceding.

We cannot close without tendering our thanks to Mr. E. J. Bates, the Secretary of the occasion, for his kindly furnished items and facts, and to J. R. Cannon, Esq., and family, to whose kindness and hospitality we owe much of the pleasure of the visit.

A procession of three large wagons was formed at the village, from which they were driven to the Fair Grounds with their contents, as follows—In, or rather upon the first, was a collection of mechanical works—on the second the whole process of chair-making from the rough timber to the finished chair, was carried on by Messrs. Lord, Parke & Co., and the chair thus made sold at auction, while upon the third wagon all kinds and descriptions of mechanical work was carried on, including blacksmithing, shoe making, wagon-making, etc., and this car bore on its sides the mottoes "Labor conquers all things," "Work or die," "Industry," and "In memory."

During the reading of the report of the awarding committee the ring was occupied by the ladies, and then by the boys, in riding. The same ladies rode who were mentioned above.

A capital address was then made by A. T. Shade, Esq., of Cleveland, which was brief but great.

Dodge, the inimitable, was then called for and ground out a machine song, which was received with applause most heartily. Dodge is immensely popular in Bedford.

The company then dispersed for their several homes, well pleased with the Fair.

We shall publish the list of premiums shortly.

EP Last evening's Dialer contained a most wanton and scurrilous attack upon our worthy School Superintendent, forsooth because he will not play the reporter to that sheet—it seems that the Secretary of the Board of Education has seen fit, of his own accord, and as a piece of gratuity on his part, to furnish the Leader and Herald with reports of the doings of the Board of Education. Because he does not do it for the Dialer, that paper, or rather the small potato Maumee biper who does up the reporting for it, has seen fit to spit against Mr. Freese, by publishing contemptible innuendoes against him, supposing him to be the person who furnished the reports as above stated.

If the Dialer wishes to publish the doings of the Board, let it compel its Maumee importation to be on hand and do its own reporting.

POLICE COURT.—Wm. Hest and Wm. Crydler on charge of grand larceny, were committed to prison, being unable to give $500 bail for their appearance at C. C. P.

Charles Latham for house breaking, fined $15 and thirty days imprisonment.

John Fenners, James McAllister, John Kelley and Wm. Fitzgerald for petit larceny, fined $10 each and ten days confinement.

John O'Brien and Jas. O. Donnelly for disturbance, fined $5 and cost.

INTERESTING.—We are informed that a Rev. gentleman living within the city limits, being desirous of leaving home early in the morning, a day or two since told his "help" to prepare an early breakfast. Not finding it ready for him in the morning, he went to her room to call her when she informed him that she didn't feel well, that she couldn't get his breakfast, that "in short" she was obliged to stay in her room and take care of a young responsibility that made its advent into the world during the night. Under the circumstances he excused her from getting up, and retired to inform his household of the stranger's arrival.

 SHAKING THE OPERATORS AT TRINITY BAY AND WAKING THEM UP.
 To Mr. De Sautey, Chief Electrician at the Trinity Bay office:

I deem it proper to state as the result of my inquiries concerning the dispatch of Thursday from Trinity Bay, announcing the resumption of perfect signals through the Cable from Valencia, that the announcement was made through a dispatch from the Superintendent of the land line in Newfoundland to the Associated Press, and was unquestionably reported to good effect, but as information has not been confirmed by Mr. De Sautey, who alone has full knowledge of all the facts, I regard the statement as possibly premature.

It is conjectured that the shore end of the Cable at Valencia must be taken up for a distance of several miles, which, by reason of bad weather or unfavorable difficulties, may occupy three or four weeks. The depth of water within 200 miles of the Irish Channel ranges from about 50 to 400 fathoms, and it is not doubtful that even 500 miles of the Cable could be raised if necessary.

Respectfully,
 CYRUS W. FIELD.
